ULURU MEETING PLACE

THE PLACE FOR AN UNFORGETTABLE EVENT

Ayers Rock Resort's Uluru Meeting Place is a world-class conference facility designed to inspire delegates with high-impact events and once-in-a-lifetime experiences. The timeless landscape will ignite passion and inspire team building.

The Uluru Meeting Place was awarded Australia's top business event honour, the Australian Tourism Award for Business Tourism, at the 2014 Australian Tourism Awards.

Boasting state-of-the-art facilities and an in-house audio visual and creative event production team, the Uluru Meeting Place is a stunning architectural structure that opened in 2012. Complemented by world-class dining options, a range of authentic Indigenous experiences and premium accommodation at Sails in the Desert hotel, Uluru is a destination like no other for business events.

Ayers Rock Resort offers a dazzling range of activities for business events, such as exclusive outdoor dining experiences under a blanket of stars; health and wellbeing options such as sunrise yoga in the desert; a Camel Farm offering tours and camel racing; Aboriginal Dot Painting classes; interactive bush food, medicine and hunting workshops run by local Indigenous guides; Indigenous storytelling; an Amazing Race team-building experience in the Australian outback; helicopter flights, and sky diving.

Conference organisers can also add a Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) educational component to their program, offering delegates a deeper understanding into the Indigenous Training and Development activities that are carried out through the National Indigenous Training Academy (NITA) as well as the efforts of the Mutitjulu Foundation. A 30-60 minute presentation hosted by the management team and a traditional Anangu owner gives the opportunity to learn about specific community projects, training initiatives and interaction with an Anangu representative.
